CONSOLIDATED DISTRIBUTION CORPORATION EARNS 98 PERCENT ON AUDIT FROM SILLIKER, INC.

LEMONT, ILL. (Jan. 20, 2011) – Consolidated Distribution Corporation<sup>SM</sup>, LLC (CDC), the leading QSR, fast casual and casual dining supply chain solutions company in the U.S., earned a 98 percent score on a third-party audit of its Lemont, Ill. redistribution facility by Silliker, Inc.

The facility is a distribution center for Restaurant Services, Inc. (RSI), the supply chain manager and exclusive purchasing agent for BURGER KING® restaurants in the U.S.

Silliker, the leading international network of accredited food testing and consulting laboratories, was hired by Burger King Corporation to ensure that its supply chain vendors and distribution centers meet its quality standards. Areas reviewed in the audit include assessment storage, loading procedures and sanitation.

“With these Silliker audit results, CDC has not only met but exceeded the high standards required by RSI and Burger King Corporation,” said Sean McCarthy, director, logistics of RSI. “We aim to be the best purchasing and supply chain organization in the foodservice industry, and CDC helps us achieve that.”

CDC’s 260,000-square-foot redistribution center facility in Lemont serves more than 150 distributors, delivering to more than 60,000 restaurant store locations across the U.S. and abroad.

“The Silliker audit serves as a reminder that while customers do save money with our redistribution model, they also receive exceptional quality and value from partnering with CDC,” said James H. Martin, CDC director of operations.
